Champion's Record In War Time Smells Too
Strongly to Suit the National Commander.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 15.—The National organization of the American Legion today refused a part in the promotion of the Dempsey-Gibbons bout at Shelby, Montana, July 4th.

John Ousley, National Commander of the Legion, in a statement, calling up Dempsey's war record
from the past, declared the Legion was not to be influenced to give its support by the promise that a hospital for disabled men would be built from a part of the proceeds.

HOPE FOR EARLY RELEASE GIVEN UP AS BANDITS MOVE

Shipping, May 15.—Hope for the early release of the Americans and other foreigners held prisoners by Chinese bandits disappeared today as receipt of information from Lin Cheng that the prisoners had been moved to a new camp twenty-five miles further from the railroad.

Apparently their release is no more or today than it was on May 6th, the day of their capture. Their relief is deeper into the mountains where it is extremely difficult to send them supplies of food and medicine which are needed.

"The situation of the Powers discuss a responsibility, declaring that the situation to the Chinese Government is not the cause of the bandits' defiant attitude and that if pressure was slackened the Government would cease its effort to obtain release of the captives.

HARDING WARNS N. Y. STATE TO GO SLOW IN DISOBEYING LAW

Newburg, N. Y., May 15.—Warning that very serious consequences may result from the failure of any state to uphold prohibition is sounded by President Harding in a letter to Doctor Wesley Wait of this city, made public here today.

Conflict between state and federal authorities would develop into the government being forced to enter the state's territory to make the law effective, the President said. "A disastrous result that would enanceably suggest this."

The letter was written in response to a letter from Doctor Wait in which he called the President's attention to the New York legislative action in repealing state prohibition law and urged
Mr. Harding to have federal officials ready to take swift action if Governor
Smith signs the repealer.

Believest Embassy To England Certain; War Is To Be Outcome

London, May 15.—The prediction that rupture of the existing trade agreement between England and Russia would probably result in war with in a year was made by Leonid Kras-
sin, Bolshevik Embassy here today.

The trade agreement is now threatened in the sharp exchange of notes between the British and Soviet Governments. In the first note, which brought on the present strained relationship between London and Moscow Lord Curzon declared that the agreement would be canceled until the Soviet ceases anti-British propaganda in the East.

"A rupture of the English-Russian agreement would probably result in war within a year," Krasin declared. "With the cancellation of the agreement the entente would revert to the old tactics of stirring up border states, such as Poland and Rumania to interfere with Russian affairs and this would probably lead to."

HEPLER'S BAIL IS SET AT $40,000 BY U. S. COMMISSIONER

Phoenix, Arizona, May 15.—Andrew Hepler, charged with embezzling $200,000 in Butler and vicinity, was held in the county jail today in lieu of $40,000 bail, which was set at his arraignment yesterday by United States commissioner.

A woman, who stated she was Nina Hepler, was also held in jail in lieu of $20,000 bail.

The pair was charged with misuse of the mails and fraudulent representation in connection with the "Ideal Squab Company" of Butler, Pa. While slave charges, originally filed against Hepler were dismissed by the commissioner. Steps were being taken to break into the safety deposit box, where authorities believe the bulk of the $200,000 will be found.
The woman gave the key of the box
to their attorney, Benton Dick.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 15.—The
entire population turned out today
and aided officials in clearing the ruins caused by the disastrous fire and flood which swept Hot Springs
Monday night.

The mountain of debris scattered about the main streets and piled high about the doorways was being removed by volunteers who worked throuout the night restoring this famous summer resort.

The city was still without electric lights but it was hoped to restore service today. Estimates made by the city engineering department placed the total loss at approximately
covered by flood insurance.

A company of the National Guards patrolled the district today to protect property. Not a loss of life was reported after a thorough check-up had been made. A woman and her two children were resuscitated from drowning after they had been rescued from an automobile which was caught in the torrents.

GRIFFIN OUTFIT IS REFUSED NEW TRIAL; SENTENCES MAY 24TH

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—Matthew S. Griffin, former Chief of the United States Secret Service for this district and six others, who were recently convicted in the six million dollar "water for whiskey" substitution fraud, were refused new trials by Federal Judge McKeehan today.

Griffin and his co-defendant Harold L. Smith, a former Michigan attorney, who was the Government's star witness, and Joe Kohnman, truck driver, will be sentenced May 24th.

The conspiracy involved one of the most startling liquor frauds in the history of the State. Smith secured a permit to export alcohol and whiskey to Gruppe. As a starter one hundred barrels of whiskey were withdrawn from bond and the liquor was replaced with water.

United Press Sports Editor
New York, May 15 (United Press)
—Thomas Joseph Gibbons, respected citizen, responsible business man of St. Paul and a family man of the highest ideals, is going to fight Jack Dempsey in Shelby, Montana on July 4, for the world's heavyweight championship.

To know a man of the character of Tom Gibbons, to have first hand knowledge of his private life and to associate him with the prize ring is a problem in psychology, where the answer lies only in the man.

"A profession is just as honorable
as a man makes it," Tommy once said, when asked why he had chosen to follow the ring as his career.

Facts and figures about the ring career of Tom Gibbons can be found in the record books, but the real story of Gibbons is familiar to only a few who have been fortunate enough to know him intimately and win his confidence.

There was a "Gentleman Jim"
Corbett, who left a desk in a bank to become a heavyweight champion;
there were Jim Jeffries and Kid Mc-Coy, sons of clergymen, who won titles in the ring and there was a Carpenter who rose to the pedestal
of a national hero, but none of them
possessed the all-around qualifications of refinement that are persis-ent in Tommy Gibbons.

Always a clean liver from the time he was removed from the discipline of a strict Irish parent, Gibbons has never been a victim of any kind of dissipation. He has never smoked or drank and his idea of a wild party after he has won a contest is to take of several quarts of ice cream.

A Man of Family
Gibbons places his religious and family obligations above everything else and when he is not in the ring or taking a trip on ring business he can be found around his home in St.
Paul with his three sturdy youngsters, Thomas Joseph (Little Junior) aged five; John Anthony, Jack) age 3, and Richard Gregory (Dick) age
eight months.

Last winter Gibbons spent a few weeks in New York and at that time he was being mentioned as one of the opponents for Dempsey this summer.
Everyone wanted to talk about it,
but Tom. When the conversation drifted around to ring subjects, Tom would get into another channel and tell with the greatest interest how Little Tommy, just a few days before Christmas, had found a pair of snow shoes back of the piano where Santa Claus had carelessly exposed
them to view.

When the talk would be worked around to boxing again Tom would prefer to talk about "Duke," one of his hunting dogs, which he claimed to be the smartest animal in the north.

A Great Hunter
Gibbons is a great hunter and outdoor man and he likes to discuss his theories about the training of dogs and argue about the best breed, their various peculiarities and capabilities.
He is essentially an outdoor man and

LOCAL TALENT IS GOING TO FURNISH US WITH BASEBALL

Clearfield is bound to have a little baseball this season. That is if the fans generally will support the efforts of the American Legion to provide some recreation along this line during the season.

At an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting Monday night the Legion decided to organize a team and arranged to start opening practise at the park Wednesday. Anybody able to play baseball is eligible to make a bid for the team by going over to the park and reporting to Manager Pierce this evening at 5:30 for the initial practise.

The local team has a bunch of fine
players to build around as the following experienced ball tossers have agreed to come out for the team:

Manager Pierce, first base, formerly with Oil City; Mahaffey, 2d base, (Gettysburg); Robinson, Short stop, (Harrisburg); Townsend, pitcher, (New Orleans).

The opening game of the season will be played on Thursday, June 7th
and a schedule is now being arranged with DuBois, Philipsburg, Brookville, Punkstutawney, New Bethlehem and
other towns in this region.

There will be a meeting of all those interested in baseball, including those who expect to try for the team, at the American Legion rooms in the County National Bank building Friday evening next at 8 o'clock.

ame way. Little Tom and Jack are cracks on snow shoes and skis and they accompany their father on most of his winter jaunts through the woods.

It has often been pointed out to Gibbons that he had not advanced as rapidly in his profession as his talents merited, because he did not show himself enough around New York and the big boxing centers.

"I'm happy where I am. I couldn't be happy in New York. The wife and the kiddies could never stand being cramped in New York
and my place is with them all the time, even when it does exact some big sacrifices," he would say in answer.

Character of such high ideals are so unusual in the boxing game that a personality like Gibbons seems almost an accident and he did get sort of an accidental, or if it might be considered as such, a sort of pre-destined start in the ring.

MUSIC WEEK REACHES CLIMAX TOMORROW EVENING WITH BAND CONCERT, SINGING, PLAYLET AND CONCERT; ALL IS FREE

This is Music Week and the average fellow who has not been in close touch with the schools and musical organizations of town may not think that the event is being taken very seriously but such is not the case.
Practically every day there has been
a musical event of some kind and for the past two or three weeks there has been the hardest kind of training given for the big time at the High School tomorrow evening when he activities of the week will have reached a climax.

Every man, woman and child of the city, yes, and outside too, is invited to join in the good time provided for tomorrow evening. Beginning promptly at 7:15 o'clock the Legion band will take up its place in the park at the rear of the High School. Rev. Hatch, one of the committee, will distribute little booklets containing the words of popular songs and there will be a Community Sing that promises to be quite interesting and enjoyable. The whole crowd will join in singing such well known and lovable songs as "Old Folks at Home", "Old Black Joe".

James Sincovich, of Osceola, who took a chance by dealing in contraband liquor, made a sad mistake in a customer on Saturday last when he made sale of a little moonshine to an officer of the law, which resulted in Constable Lee Sunderlin making information against Sincovich violation of the liquor law.

When Sincovich learned that the officer was about to have him arrested, he is alleged to have offered him $10 to withhold such action. Constable Sunderlin accepted the money
and then promptly made information against the liquor peddler for bribery and Sincovich is now being held in $2000 bail to answer the double charge at next term of court.

BEAUTIFUL AND FASCINATING WAS MARKET ST. PLAY

The entertainment given by the pupils of Grades 1 to 6 of the Market street school at the Clearfield
High School auditorium last evening was greeted by a packed house and
each and every little one in the cast did very nicely. Bobby Silverman is the Easter Bunny was very funny
and so well did he appear and act his part that from all over the house came cries from the kiddies, "Oh, look at the real bunny."

The six "little shows" who came out with their grinning caps to receive the daisies and butter cups
also got lots of applause.

Another pleasing feature was the excellent music of the Junior High School orchestra, which certainly entitles that organization to the most extravagant praise.

The pageant of "The Shut-Up Posy" was a real spring idyl, the beautiful costumes, designed by Dennison and made by the teachers,
of Dennison crepe paper adding the necessary dash and color to typify
the element or flower sought to be represented by the different characters.

It was a finished performance
throughout and reflects great credit upon the little participants, as well as the Market street teachers who labored so energetically and indus-triously in training the children for their several parts.

Valuable assistance was rendered by Miss Leighton, who taught the
dances and Mrs. J. M. Gallaher, whose splendid accompaniment on
the piano added greatly to the success of the pageant.

An admission fee of 25 cents was charged largely as a means of curtailing the audience to the capacity of the auditorium and a splendid financial return was also realized.

Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Brown left at noon for a visit in Philadelphia and Atlantic City. While in Philadelphia
Dr. Brown will attend the State Dental meeting. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Dr. R. W. Livingston is attending the Penn State Dental Society this week at Philadelphia.

LUCAS, DRIVER OF DEATH CAR, BEFORE COURT OF JUSTICE

East End Man Is Being
Manslaughter, Result

LUCAS, DRIVER OF
The case of Com. vs. Wendell Lucas, the East End young man, who is charged with involuntary manslaughter as a result of the fatal automobile accident in which he figured down on Daisy street Saturday April 7th, is on trial in Criminal Court.

Shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon of that day Lucas driving a Jewett roadster and accompanied by a young man named Plegal was driving up Daisy street and when near the corner of Sixth and Daisy streets Tony Loffredi, aged about 7 years, in attempting to cross the street, was struck and knocked down,
the car passing over him and killing
the child almost instantly.

The testimony adduced at the Coroner's inquest held following the accident was to the effect that the car was traveling no less than 25 or 30 miles per hour and the verdict recommended by the jury recommended that Lucas be held to answer for his carelessness.

Following the return of the verdict District Attorney Arnold had an inquiry made against Lucas charging him with involuntary manslaughter.
The Grand Jury returned a true
bill last week and the case was set for trial after the 1st of May.
The securing of a jury took up the entire afternoon, the verdict was being accepted just before 3 o'clock.

from yesterday.)

ASK COUNCIL FOR PERMISSION TO DANCE ON STREET

Miss Pearl Moore representing a committee of the Woman's Club, asked that permission be given the Club to hold a June festival at the Court House corner on the evening of June 15th asking permission to include closing one-half block on Market and Second streets to traffic, during that evening, it being the intention to get up booths on the street and have dancing on the sidewalk in front of the Court House. Council recommended that the Burgess grant a license for such festival.

Chairman Beahan of the Highway Committee recommended that Council contribute $50 toward the dispute through the properties of M. L.
Bowers and H. D. Hooley on Turnpike avenue for the purpose of taking care of the surface water coming down through these lots from
the West Fifth Avenue section, the property owners obligating themselves to forever after maintain the sewer. The recommendation was adopted thus settling a question that has been before Council an-

Want River Bank Cleaned Up Councilman Callahan who was Chairman of the Clean-Up Committee, said there had been a pretty general response to the clean-up notices except in the cases of a lot of people who had piled ashes in the alleys in violation of the Ordinance. Council was of the opinion that each and every offender should be haled before the Burgess and fined. The Highway Committee was directed to have the river bank cleaned up and kept in shape, prosecutions to be made in the future against every person who dumped rubbish or debris of any kind thereon.

Railroad Crossing in Bad Shape Complaint was made concerning the Pennsylvania Railroad crossings and footwalks at both Ogden Avenue and Park Avenue and the Secretary was directed to notify the Railroad Company to make the necessary repairs.

Edwin Rice Patterson, 32, of Brockton, Mass., and his mother, Mrs. Stella Ballou, of Oakdale, Mass., reunited after a search of 25 years. They had not seen each other since 1897 when the family was disbanded.

OUR GROWING SHARE IN WORLD IRON PRODUCTION

World production of pig iron made its highest total of 78 million tons in 1922. Our own high record was 20 million tons in 1922. Our share of world production advanced from 25% in 1900 to 25% in 1922.

The announcement that the production of pig iron in the United States in March and April was the largest on record leads interest to some figures compiled for the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York on world production of iron and the share thereof supplied by the United States.

World production of pig iron, it appears from the Trade Record's statement, made its highest total in 1922, the year immediately preceding the war, when it stood at 78 million tons against 40 million in 1914, 27 million in 1910, 15 million in 1906, 12 million in 1902, and 5 million in 1900.

With the rearrangement of world production following the ending of the war the production of iron has been based on the 78 million ton figure, and subject to radical changes as the studies progress, according to a very high authority "the additions to our known supply of iron are likely to be much greater than those of coal, since great iron ore beds may exist anywhere, while those of coal are chiefly of carboniferous formation and a large share of the world's coal supply is known and measured, while the iron ore supply is hardly to be guessed."

One advantage of the United States in the matter of pig iron production lies in the fact that the rich ore beds at the north of the Great Lakes are mined by the use of machinery and this ore transferred across the lakes at low cost by great steamers especially constructed for that service, passing direct to the great coal areas south of the lakes, and as our known iron supply exceeds that of any other country and our cost of supply about one-half that of the world it would appear that we may continue indefinitely our present high rank in world pig iron production and the world's reliance for iron and steel manufactures.

The chief pig iron producers of the world in 1922, stated in the order of magnitude, were the United States 25,000,000 metric tons, Germany 6,000,000, France 5,500,000, Great Britain 4,500,000, and Belgium 1,800,000.

Our share of the world's known iron ore is also larger than that of any other single country, having been recently estimated at about 12 billion tons out of an estimated world "known" total of approximately 50 billion tons. These world estimates following the ending of the war the production of iron has been based on the 78 million ton figure, and subject to

Most Primitive Still. Probably the most primitive still in use is that used by the Chinese in the distillation of camphor, which is simple, however to be very effective. The leaves are placed in a wicker basket, which is fixed over an iron caldron containing water. On the top of the basket a basin of cold water is placed. The steam from the caldron passes through the leaves of the basket and carries over the camphor vapor, which is deposited in the form of camphor on the cool under surface of the basin.

SENATE MAKES UP NEW CALENDAR TO PUT IN THE TIME

Harrisburg, Pa., May 16.—The Senate today advanced the general program of the session by getting the Administration code and the general appropriation bill ahead on its calendar, but the refusal of the House to sanction additional revenue still continued to be the burning question of the day.

Various conferences were held today, more for the sake of studying than in the hope of arriving at any solution. The temper of the House was so overwhelmingly against the new tax bills when the tax program came up for vote that plans to get reconsideration of any of the bills were advanced half heartedly.

Harrisburg, May 16.—The House appropriation committee today reported out affirmatively 44 bills with an aggregate appropriation of $473,300 for charitable homes throughout the state.

The committee practically gave these institutions what they received two years ago from the Legislature, and each bill has a rider providing that the appropriation "be paid according to law," so that the money may be paid according to any plan the Legislature may designate.

Alleviate Earache.

If earache does not occur often possibly home treatment will alleviate the suffering, which is always so severe while it lasts. Wring out hot cloths and apply them to the ear. This often brings quick relief. Or moisten a small piece of cotton, saturated with sweet oil or laudanum and place it carefully in the ear. This is generally efficacious if the trouble is caused by the hardening of the wax.

BONAR LAW SUFFERS THROAT AFFECTION; ARRIVES IN PARIS

Paris, May 16.—Premier Bonar Law of Great Britain arrived here today incognito to consult a French specialist regarding his health. Bonar Law's condition is not much improved by his vacation and his friends are worried. He is suffering from severe throat affection.

While here it is possible the British premier will talk with Poincare and endeavor to patch a rapprochement.

BRIEF CASES

We are showing a great array of brief cases for the man who has a lot of papers to carry to and from his work or, if you have to make a trip taking with you more or less correspondence, documents, etc.

We have them with one, two, three or four pockets of compartments and in various leathers. Colors are black and tan.

Sport Goods

We have the wonderful D. & M. line of sporting goods and you will find that, no matter what your favorite sport may be, there is something here that will improve your game.

If you have been dragging along to work and don't care "whether school keeps or not," it's a sure sign that you are more or less run down physically.

We have had people tell us that they saw a difference very soon after starting to drink our milk—they began to take on weight and they began to feel a thousand per cent better.

And when you drink our milk you know that you are drinking as safe a milk as you can get anywhere. It comes from inspected herds and goes through the pasteurization process.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Some time ago we published in this column what the Democratic Pittsburgh Post thought about the re-appointment of Dr. Thos. E. Finegan. Here is further evidence along that line from the Republican Philadelphia Inquirer of Tuesday, May 15th:—

REAPPOINT DR. FINEGAN

Governor Pinchot owes it to himself, to the public schools of Pennsylvania and to the great army of parents who look to the schools for training of their offspring in the elements of good citizenship to put an end to the uncertainty which has for the last five months been allowed to surround the educational policy of the state. That policy, and the remarkable progress which has been attained in putting the schools of this State more nearly in line with national progress in the educational field, have been inextricably associated in the public mind with the work and personality of Thomas E. Finegan, since 1919 the Superintendent of Public Instruction. It has been principally through the inspiration and the wise guidance of Dr. Finegan that the schools have been lifted to a higher level of efficiency, the standard of qualification of the teaching force elevated, the rural schools modernized and improved and a new spirit of service infused throughout the system. During the campaign last fall Mr. Pinchot pledged himself to maintain the high standard in education which had been attained, but for reasons best known to himself studiously refrained from committing himself as to the manner in which that result was going to be attained. He wanted to see for himself, from the vantage ground of the governorship, the inner workings of the educational department. He has had ample time for this, and the time is near when, because of the expiration of the term of office of the superintendent, a decision must be made. Within the last half year there has been an unprecedented manifestation of public opinion in support of the educational policy of the state, and especially for the retention of Dr. Finegan in his position as the most certain way of holding the ground which has been gained and of winning further improvement. The only opposition has been that based on ignorance of the value, and, in some instances, upon deliberate misrepresentation. The school teachers of the state, through their official organizations, and skilled educational experts from other states, brought here to make an independent inquiry into the school conditions, have been unanimous in their judgment that it would be a calamity if the state were to lose the services of Dr. Finegan. Even Governor Pinchot's own committee of citizens, whom he called to his aid in making a study of the state's finances was unanimous in its approval of the school policies as formulated and carried out by the present Superintendent of Public Instruction, and disposed conclusively of the purveyors of falsehood who had used the Grange organization for the dissemination of anti-Finegan propaganda. For these reasons, and other obvious ones which might be offered, the Governor should at once set at rest all doubt and relieve the anxieties of all true friends of educational progress by announcing the reappointment of Dr. Finegan as Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Dry rot is a wood disease that is giving farmers trouble in some localities and engineers are prescribing preventive curative remedies. It is especially urged that every trace of the infection be removed from timber for buildings. The infected spots are to be oiled to retain the spores and are then to be completely removed and buried. The diseased wood is to be kept from contact with other building material while saws used in cutting it are to be afterward sterilized.

Owl Stopped Wheels of Industry. The curious combination of an owl and a steel trap in which the bird had become caught and flown away, trap and all, blighting on a high-powered electric cable carrying 11,000 volts of electricity to run a mill at Goodyear, Conn., stopped the power and threw several hundred men out of work for several hours. Linemen, after several hours' search, located the owl, burned to a cinder.

Renovate Brushes.

When sweeper brush bristles become soft from long use and do not sweep up lint as well as when stiff, put a little common baking soda in some hot water; take the brush out of the sweeper and dip it up and down in this. Let it dry in the sun and it will be like new. Hair brushes or any brush can be treated in the same way with the best of results.

Signifies Honorary Promotion. Breve is a French word, meaning commission or warrant. In military usage it gives an officer higher nominal rank than the one for which he receives pay. It is an honorary promotion. The first time it was used in the United States army was in 1812, when Capt. Zachary Taylor, who afterward became president, was made major by brevet for his brave defense of Fort Harrison against the Indians, near Terre Haute.

Distribution of Population. There would be about nine people to the square mile if the entire population of the world were distributed equally over the earth's total surface area of about 57,285,000 square miles.

SINCLAIR ARRESTED IN TEST CASE OF RIGHTS OF SPEECH

Los Angeles, Cal., May 14.—Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" stood on Liberty Hill last night and read to a little group of three friends a few words from the preamble of the Constitution of the United States. His auditors were his brother-in-law, Hunter Krimbrough, Prince Hopkins and H. R. Haldeman.

The four were arrested immediately brought here and lodged in the county jail without bail for the night and today are to be charged with criminal syndicalism and unlawful assembly.

Sinclair was making a test case on behalf of six hundred strikers and strike sympathizers who are under arrest in connection with the longshoremen's walk-out at San Pedro, California. The authorities banned public meetings following the great round-up of all union men.

Roman Glass Makers.

Rome is supposed to have entered upon glass making only some 300 or 400 years before the Christian era. She brought it into the empire along with her other conquests. Alexander Severus, 220 B. C., levied a tax upon his manufacture within the Imperial city, and in the reign of Tiberius the glass makers had an entire street to themselves in the Porta Capena.

There are indications that there is likely to be an early return to the days when the newspaper editors and publishers of the interior counties of the state were more important factors in directing public affairs and determining the policies of their respective parties than they have been in recent years. The increasing spirit of independence manifested by many of them and their closer affiliation with movements of representative citizens to improve governmental conditions, both in the counties and in the state at large, are significant and forecast a new order of things. The fact that in both the Republican and Democratic state organizations there is no longer a dominating leadership or even groups of leaders to whom the active men in their respective parties can look for inspiration or guidance, makes the situation such as should bring to the front aggressive and public-spirited newspapermen to blaze the way for better things in both local and state government. Veteran Republicans recall the influence wielded years ago in the management of their organization and in framing its platform declarations of party policy by men like Thomas V. Cooper, editor of the Delaware County American and for years chairman of the Republican state committee, and who in that capacity always brought into party councils the leading Republican newspapermen of every district in the state.—Altoona Tribune.

This evening, if you happen to be about the central part of town about eight o'clock or later, take a look at those beautiful lamp posts in front of the Clearfield Trust Company.

Look long and hard, then visualize in your mind, if you can, what the entire business part of town would look like with similar lighting equipment.

Do not think that this is a city idea. It is common sense and good business. Lock Haven has them and would not think of doing away with them. Indiana has them and would not think of discarding them than they would their water supply.

Unless there is concerted action along this line in the near future this town is going to lose a chance to "look right." The Trust Company is to be commended for erecting these lights. They are in harmony with the building and are beautiful. But here is what is going to happen. A salesman will happen along here some day and sell somebody else a pair of posts of a different design; then another will come along, and another, and finally we are going to have a dozen different kind of lighting fixtures in place of that uniformity of contour and design which makes for a beautiful city.

Plainly, it is the duty of the legislature to provide this money.

Why do they not do it?

The Ways and Means Committee of the House have exhaustively gone into the potential tax producers and, after equally exhaustive research, reported out a recommendation that it be divided as follows: part by a heavier tax on gasoline part by a tax on chewing gum and tobacco and part by a tax on all state taxes now levied, with some exemptions.

The House members, remembering the implications of the gubernatorial campaign that an increased taxation would not be necessary if economy were practiced—though they realize the untruth of such belief—fear to vote for any increase in taxation.

None will deny that the money must be raised, but only a more handful have the backbone to levy the tax.

INFORMATION FOR BONDHOLDERS

Many issues of Bonds may, by their terms, be called for payment by advertisement.

Bondholders living outside the large cities frequently do not see these advertisements and, by failing to turn in their bonds, suffer loss of interest.

To meet this condition we have arranged to keep on file in our Bond Department a list of called bonds which will be as nearly complete as possible.

This list is for the information of bondholders. You are invited to consult it often.

GERMAN CABINET TO MAKE ANOTHER TRY BY A NEW OFFER

Berlin, May 15.—Germany now proposes to make a new offer to the Allies. With supplies from France and Belgium, Italy and Great Britain on hand, all rejecting the German Government's latest offer, the Cabinet has decided to try again.

The next proposal will contain more satisfactory guarantees, but the limit of thirty billion gold marks fixed in the last offer, will not be raised. At least this was the decision thus far, which possibly may be changed by another Cabinet meeting scheduled for this afternoon before the next note is finally agreed upon.

INDUSTRIAL COLLEGE PREPARE MEN

State College, Pa., May 16.—What the industries of Pennsylvania demand as qualifications in a college graduate will be one of the important matters to be brought up at the annual Industrial Conference to be held at the Pennsylvania State College school of engineering next week-end. Invitations have been sent to about 60 industrial executives in engineering, production lines. From these who attend, the college engineering school officials will endeavor to obtain information that will enable them to better train technical students to fit into state industries upon graduation.

Industrial research problems that can be undertaken by the State College engineering experiment station will also be suggested by the manufacturing and transportation leaders who attend the conference. The college station is now working on important, heat transmission problems and testing various kinds of apparatus to facilitate the efficient burning of the lower grades of coal as a conservation measure. At the same time the industrial conference is held the eighth annual convention of the engineering extension workers will take place. It will be attended by many representatives from industrial plants where the college has installed class and home courses for employees.

HARDING OFF FOR ALASKAN JOURNEY ABOUT JUNE 30TH.

Washington, D. C. May 16.—President Harding will leave Washington for his Alaskan trip on June 30th, it was officially announced at the White House. The official spokesman said: It has been definitely settled that the President would make the trip. The trip will consume about sixty days. The President did not know how long he would remain in Alaska.

FORTY YEARS MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell celebrated the 40th anniversary of their marriage yesterday evening. Those present, besides their children, were the resident sisters and brothers of the couple and their children.

The house was beautifully decorated with immense bouquets of spring blossoms. The photos in bridal costume of the couple were in evidence. The guests were pleasantly entertained with piano and violin duets by Misses Grace and Eugenia Mitchell. The gala occasion was also delightfully added to by Miss Mary Mitchell singing a number of selections in her usual fine style. The serving of elegant refreshments closed a most enjoyable evening.

Systematic Effort Wins.
If we take our days and reduce them to the essentials we shall find that there are many real things to do, needful things to do, and we shall go about these tasks quietly and earnestly, not expressing our energies through a hundred trifles, but through true effort, properly directed, doing whatever our hands and hearts and minds find to do, nobly and well.

Not the Cause.

INSIST on taste

Just because Ward's Orange-Crush is a mellow golden color, don't be fooled by a "gold brick" imitation. Your taste will tell every time. Ward's Crushes owe their distinctive and delightful flavors to the natural fruit oils of oranges, lemons and limes. To these have been added pure cane sugar, citrus fruit juices, U.S. certified food color, fruit acid and carbonated water. Everybody likes them.

FORMER CLEARFIELD PASTOR IS APPRECIATED

Friends of Rev. R. S. Oyler, former pastor of the Eleventh Street Methodist church, will be pleased to learn that the congregation of Old Trinity Church, of Philadelphia have voted him a handsome increase in salary, making it $3,000 a year. The Philadelphia Journal in commenting on the work of Rev. Oyler says "in all its history the church has not had a more able, earnest and aggressive pastor. Not only has the church membership greatly increased under his jurisdiction, but financially and otherwise has shown healthy strides."

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this thoroughly over the hair, using one small strand at a time. In a few days the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance, which is so attractive.

OF RAID ON GRAMPAN
STOCK EXCHANGEGrampian, Pa., May 15.
Editor Clearfield Progress:

Dear Sir:—Referring to your story relative to the raid upon the "Grampian Stock Exchange," allow me to inform you that desperados "taken at the point of a gun" were callow youths, who may some time have both hair and whiskers with which to deceive you, but at the present time such to be expected hirsute adornment of their square jaws and manly features has not even yet made a break through the skin in a single instance.

Following this raid these "bag boys" were taken home and spanked and put to bed. One lad who had a pair of fangs showing with eight or ten in the pot, lost the whole ding-bell when the state copper seized his life steel smoke wagon in the throat of the desperate gamblers and shipped heads up. He says never again for me, so the effort must be a waste worth while.

THE CHARGE OF SHYLOCK JONES

Yo Grampian stood in darkness, the wild was howling wild. Five mothers lay awake that night, each thinking of her child. "Where is my darling Paul," cried one. "Oh God, where can he be?" While busy heating up his milk, the poor boy strayed from me. "Some one has kidnapped Charles, my boy, his face no more I'll see, Oh, Heaven, guard my little child and bring him back to me." As other mothers wept and prayed that dark and stormy night, As Shylock Jones, the Grampian cop prepared himself for fight.

In Grampian's old pavilion grand, each seated on a box, Five agents played "the penny ante," for chips, they used mere rocks. Says Tim, "My Mam says home at nine," or she will use the switch, It's late and dark, come Rube let's go, I'm scared of Grampian's witch. "T'll give your bet and raise one cent," speaks Conway, wired on jacks. "I give," says Murph. "Me too," said George, "I've got 'em backs to backs." "HOLD UP!" The cry came terse and shrill, "I'm Shylock Jones, detective. You frame it up, move and I'll shoot, and all I'll make a wreck of."

The state cop came, handcuffs in hand, likewise came two assistants. And Mama's boys, bound hand and foot, were checked of all resistance. Then forth they marched to Adam, who armed law book in hand, Declared that Court was open and note law of the land. Foot Charles stood all squiver, his line he knew was up; He lifted old Adam's groundhog once and blamed it on a pup. The Court House smells of chicken soup as Adam quoth the law, Well of Charles, "Afore I go to jail I want to see my ma." "My brother wears a gas mask once," said Tom. "He fought the Huns: Unless old Adam airs this court I'll run and chance the guns."

"Five dollars fine, and pay the costs, get darn ye come across. Or in the coop you'll go by gum, the law's now the boss." And musing not which coop he meant, the "chicken" or the "jag" The lads were in a panic as their hearts began to tug. "T'll say my fine," each wailed "midst a gas," "My mother's arms I seek. I'll be in it any more, for breath my heart is weak." Aye, years may come and years may pass, and brows begin to harden, But I'll long will tell how mighty the pinch did pinch the kindergarten. ANONY. M. MOUS, Grampian, Penna.

FLOWING GOLD

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray occupies the most expensive suite in the most exclusive hotel in Dallas. He introduced himself to the hotel manager, to the president of the largest bank in the city, to the mayor of Dallas. The leading newspaper gives Gray a write-up in which it is stated that he is backed by three oil interests. A friend who is vice president of the largest jewelry store in Dallas Gray takes a trip to Texas to help valuable diamonds to get to the top of the diamond market. Gray meets Ma Briskow, Allegheny, the daughter and companion. The family tries to make time for at home.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"Is it well producing twelve hundred dollars a day?"

"Huh," Briskow, Junior, grinned at his sister, appraising a mouth full of teeth as white and as sound as railroad crockery, but his hand words were directed at Daddy: "We got four miles and the parcel was in twelve hundred dollars."

"The greater mental calculations as to the Briskow royalties were interrupted by an announcement that dinner was ready, whereupon the father announced:

"Mister, it looks like you'd have to play harrigan with us, 'cause I got important business after dinner and I wouldn't trust Ma to look out no jewelry by herself—them prices would shake her to death. We're ignorant people and we ain't used to spending money, so I'll take time for us to make up our minds. Kin you wait?"

"I'll stay as long as you'll keep me," Gray declared, heartily. A moment later, having learned that a place at the table had been set for his driver as well as himself, Gray stepped out to summon the man and to effect the necessary change in his arrangements. He was not surprised to find the chauffeur with two attendants against a pane of the front-room window, his hands cupped over his eyes, ignoring the fellow's confusion at being discovered. Gray told him of his change of plan and instructed him to drive back to Ranger and to return late the following afternoon. Then he led the way toward the kitchen.

That day at the Briskows' turned out to be less irksome than the visit or had anticipated, for the afternoon was spent with Buddy examining the Briskow villa and others near by.

They got along together swimmingly; in fact, they grew thicker than thieves in the course of these. The elder man soon became conscious of the fact that he was being studied, analyzed, even copied; the discreet form of flattery—and it pleased him vanity.

When Gray offered him a cigar, Buddy rudely took the gold case out of his pocket and examined it, then he handed it to his son's delight.

"Good! I never knew men had such good cigars. I'm going to get me one of these."

"Go on, go on," Gray said, "Go on, make you a present of it."

Buddy smiled at the speaker in such a way as to give the present. Buddy said, "Not one thing I wanted. I never had nothing that I didn't have to have and couldn't get along without. This cigar case is worth more'n all the stuff I ever owned, and I'm sure obliged to you." He replaced the article in Gray's hand. "Shit! Won't you accept it? Why not?"

"Oh, I dunno." Gray pocketed this refusal for a moment before saying, "Perhaps you think I'm trying to make a good impression on you, so you'll buy some diamonds?"

"Mebbe," Buddy averted his eyes. His eyes to real distress. "I ought to punch your head," Gray slipped the case into Buddy's pocket. "I don't have to bribe people. Some day you'll realize that I like you."

"Honest?" "Cross my heart."

The boy laughed in frank delight, his brown cheeks colored, his eyes sparkling. "Good!" said he. "I like you." For some time thereafter he remained red and in the pocket kept one big hand in the pocket where lay the gold cigar case. There was a wordless song in Buddy Briskow's heart, for he had made a friend. And such a friend! Gray made his conquest doubly secure by engaging the young Behemoth in a scuffle and playfully putting him on his back.

"I'll stay as long as you'll keep me," Gray declared heartily. A moment later, having learned that a place at the table had been set for his driver as well as himself, Gray stepped out to summon the man and to effect the necessary change in his arrangements. He was not surprised to find the chauffeur with two attendants against a pane of the front-room window, his hands cupped over his eyes, ignoring the fellow's confusion at being discovered. Gray told him of his change of plan and instructed him to drive back to Ranger and to return late the following afternoon. Then he led the way toward the kitchen.

That day at the Briskows' turned out to be less irksome than the visit or had anticipated, for the afternoon was spent with Buddy examining the Briskow villa and others near by.

They got along together swimmingly; in fact, they grew thicker than thieves in the course of these. The elder man soon became conscious of the fact that he was being studied, analyzed, even copied; the discreet form of flattery—and it pleased him vanity.

"Good! I never knew men had such good cigars. I'm going to get me one of these."

"Go on, go on," Gray said, "Go on, make you a present of it."

Buddy smiled at the speaker in such a way as to give the present. Buddy said, "Not one thing I wanted. I never had nothing that I didn't have to have and couldn't get along without. This cigar case is worth more'n all the stuff I ever owned, and I'm sure obliged to you." He

"Oh, I dunno." Gray pocketed this refusal for a moment before saying, "Perhaps you think I'm trying to make a good impression on you, so you'll buy some diamonds?"

"Mebbe," Buddy averted his eyes. His eyes to real distress. "I ought to punch your head," Gray slipped the case into Buddy's pocket. "I don't have to bribe people. Some day you'll realize that I like you."

"Honest?" "Cross my heart."

The boy laughed in frank delight, his brown cheeks colored, his eyes sparkling. "Good!" said he. "I like you." For some time thereafter he remained red and in the pocket kept one big hand in the pocket where lay the gold cigar case. There was a wordless song in Buddy Briskow's heart, for he had made a friend. And such a friend! Gray made his conquest doubly secure by engaging the young Behemoth in a scuffle and playfully putting him on his back.

there was protest, loud and earnest, from the Briskows, father and son. Buddy actually sulked at being denied the pleasure of driving his hero to town in the new car.

Pa Briskow was worried for the security of the diamonds, and assured Gray that it was unsafe to trust those service-car drivers.

But the latter, meeting a threat to his carefully matured plans, refused to listen. "There's one thing you can do for me," he told them. "You can give me a pint of cream."

"Cream? What for?" The family regarded him with amazement. "I'm fond of it. If you have no cream, milk will do."

"Fahaw! I'll put up a bull basket of lunch for you," Mrs. Briskow declared. "Buddy, go 'kill a rooster, an' you, Allie, get them eggs out of the nest in the garden, an' a jar of them peach preserves, while I make up a pan of biscuits."

Peace was unavailing. When the others had hurried away, Pa Briskow said: "I been studyin' you, Mister Gray, and I got you down as a first-class man. When Ma and Allie come over to Dallas to get rigged out, I'd like you to help 'em. They ain't never been further from home than Cisco—that's thirty miles. I'll pay you for your time."

Gray's hearty acceptance of the first and his prompt refusal of the second proposal pleased the elder Briskow. "You're mighty fine, buddy," Gray Briskow shook his head doubtfully. "It takes a lot of thinkin' and I ain't used to thinkin'. Some day, maybe, I'll get you to give me a hand 'd fingerin' out some 'prosses."

"Business worries?" "No. I got enough of them, an' more comin', but it ain't that. Well, look at this. You know how you laugh, Pa. I got, we have the get we can stand it, but mister, I want folks to laugh at my children, and there's other things I don't want to happen to 'em. Buddy's a good boy and he's got a special at the old Nick in him. And Allie ain't broke better 'n him. I got a feelin' there may be trouble ahead, an' sometimes I wish we'd never had no oil in Texas."

CHAPTER VI
A Surprise for Mother

"WELL, did you land them chicks?" It was Gray's driver speaking, through the gloom of early evening he was guiding his car back toward Ranger.

"Yes. And I made a good sale," the passenger declared. With words he announced the size of the Briskow check.

A few miles farther on the foggy confessed: "I wasn't Gray about comin' for you tonight. Not after I got a dash at 'what's in that wallet'."

"You're takin' a chance, stranger." "Nothing new about that," Gray remained unperturbed. His left arm was behind the driver, with it he clung rigidly to the back of the seat as the car plunged and rolled. "Frequently we are in danger when we least suspect it. Now you, for instance."

"Me?" The man at the wheel shot a quick glance at the first. "Um-m! These roads give a message to life and limb; the country is infested with robbers."

"Oh sure! That's what I told in mind. Joy-riding at night with a bagful of diamonds is my idea of a fustier's amusement. Of course, we won't get away."

"Of course! One never does." "Sure! But if we should, there's just one thing to do."

"Indeed?" Gray was pleasantly inquisitive, but it was plain that he suffered no apprehensions. "And that is—"

"Sit tight and take your medicine."

"I never take medicine." The chauffeur shrugged his shoulders. "Well, I do, when it's put down my throat. I been stuck up."

"Really?" "Twice. Tame as a house cat, me—both times. I s'pose I'll get ticked sometime."

"And you won't offer any resistance?" "Not a one, cull."

"I'm relieved to be assured of that."

"I'LL STAY AS LONG AS YOU'LL KEEP ME," GRAY DECLARED HEARTILY.

his back. Defiant, at other hands than Gray's, would have enraged Omaha to the point of frenzy, it would have been considered by him an indignity and a disgrace. Now, however, he looked upon it as a natural and wholly satisfactory demonstration of his total supremacy, and he roared with delight at being tested.

They were red in the face, out of breath, and soaked with perspiration, when Pa Briskow drove up in his expensive new touring car.

By this time Buddy's admiration had turned to adulation; he had bowed under the yoke and he gloried shamelessly in his captive state. At supper time he appeared with his hair, neatly combed in imitation of Gray's. He wore a necktie, too, and into it he had fastened a cheap brass stickpin, much as Gray wore his.

Pa Briskow was scarcely less obsequious than his son. He watched Gray's every move; he sounded him out adroitly; he pondered his lightest word. After the supper things had been cleared away and the dishes washed, the entire family adjourned to the front room and again examined the jewelry. It was an absorbing task; they did not hurry it. Not until the following afternoon, in fact, did they finally make their selection. The check was one of five figures.

When it drew near the time for Gray to leave, and he announced that the driver of his hired car had been instructed to return for him,

Gray pocketed this refusal for a moment before saying, "Perhaps you think I'm trying to make a good impression on you, so you'll buy some diamonds?"

"Mebbe," Buddy averted his eyes. His eyes to real distress. "I ought to punch your head," Gray slipped the case into Buddy's pocket. "I don't have to bribe people. Some day you'll realize that I like you."

"I'll stay as long as you'll keep me," Gray declared heartily. A moment later, having learned that a place at the table had been set for his driver as well as himself, Gray stepped out to summon the man and to effect the necessary change in his arrangements. Gaining New Fame for Service194% Sales Increase in Last Six Months
Shows Trend Toward Firestone

The public has enthusiastically spoken. The popular preference in all territories is unmistakably the Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

A standard of service has been set by these famous tires without parallel in the past. It has brought a sales increase of 194% for the past six months over the same period of a year ago—the greatest gain in all Firestone history.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord is the mighty achievement which has enabled Firestone to break the tremendous record of past Firestone success.

The tire buying public has been aroused to the results in economical mileage of the Firestone process of double gum-dipping. The buying public toward Firestone shows how it has advanced the public's standard of tire value.

Ask owners about Firestone performance on their cars. Note the big, tough fleets Firestone-equipped. Watch the new cars you see—just from the territories; Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are used everywhere in fast increasing numbers.

Get the maximum extra mileage that only the Firestone name assures you. Only by insisting on this name can you be sure of getting the genuine gum-dipped construction.

Love Apples.

Love apples is what tomatoes were called years ago when it was told that, if sweethearts were to divide one and eat it together, no adverse fate could port them. There was real bravery in this simple act; for, in early days, tomatoes were thought to be rank poison.

Eugene Coyne, 12 years old, son of State Representative and Mrs. James J. Coyne, of Pittsburgh, has been missing since Monday night. It became known last night. Police and city and county detectives conducted a city-wide search for the boy yesterday, but no clue was found as to his whereabouts.

The boy left his home about 7:30 o'clock Monday night for a dentist's office in the Forbes building, Forbes and Atwood streets. After receiving treatment, he played in front of the building with some boy companions. He was last seen about 9:30 o'clock by a woman attendant in the dentist's office. The lad was attired in a brown suit, light cap, tan shoes and black stockings when he disappeared. He has light hair, blue eyes and weighs about 100 pounds.

THE PROPER COURSE

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and it is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with kidney backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement should add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of a Clearfield citizen who used them and who publicly tells of the benefit derived?

Mrs. C. E. Reed, 205 Clearfield St., Clearfield, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble. There was a severe pain in the small of my back and I had headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they drove away the pains and headaches. I cannot say too much for Doan's as I think they are perfectly wonderful."

All Dressed Up

Suppose you owned a complete wardrobe of the newest and most fashionable clothes—would you know how, when and where they should be worn? To such questions you'll always find the answer in

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

In an early issue, for example, there will be a feature entitled "Do You Know What's the Matter With Their Clothes?" The illustrations will show the same women, incorrectly and then correctly dressed.

A style well chosen is good as long as the dress lasts. The Journal aims to picture fashions that will be the mode the following season; for fashions are things of subtle change rather than overnight revision. It's part of Journal fashion news, too, to discuss prices and quality of materials, and their possibilities.

The Summer Hats

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor for the United Press
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., May 15. (United Press)—There's a hat born every minute! Just when we thought the turned-down poke had firmly settled itself upon us, it goes up, in front like the nose of a saucy flapper.

The new type poke still follows
the line of the cloche of the earlier season, except that its front brim is slightly wider and turns up abruptly from the face with a slight point in front. It will be becoming to the women who considers her eyes her best feature, for the small down-turned brim tended to accentuate the lower part of the face, shadowing
the eyes. If one feels that the abruptly upturning brim is unbecoming, there are numerous models with brims which roll slightly upwards.

Another new cloche shape that is a little out of the ordinary turns abruptly upwards in back, with a fan shaped cascade of ribbon placed directly in back and extending over the sides like a huge comb. This is particularly attractive on the dark haired woman, who has even features. The front brim is narrow and rounding.

The Big Hats

Large mushroom hats which are wider on one side than the other and
with short back brims are popular for dress wear. Often the wide side of the brim is pleated, resembling a fan. The opposite brim may be untrimmed with a bow of ribbon.

In spite of the earlier predictions
for flower trims, ribbons and lace we're receiving more popularity than flowers. Ribbon trims most of the street hats in cocoons, huge bows, accordion pleats or frayed-edge borders. Here a word might be said about the new border trims which are so softening to the face. Many of the little cloche shapes are indeed hard to wear unless softened by a border of frayed taffeta or ribbon.

Trims of this sort are so easily made
at home and the plain untrimmed shapes which one can purchase in the stores may be made into lovely hats
with little effort.

Cut taffeta in bias strips about an inch and a half wide. A strip three times the circumference of the brim is all that is required. By pulling the blunt edge of scissors over the bias edge of the taffeta it is easily frayed
out. Then run a shirring thread through the center of the strip gathering it, and sew it to the edge of the hat brim. This gives a fastidious smile which is bound to be attractive.
Usually the taffeta used matches exactly the shade of the hat.

Black Hats in Fashion
Black hats are again very much in vogue in Paris and are often trimmed with clusters of various colored flowers or ribbons. Black felt cloche shapes are especially popular with the Parisian at present, trimmed either in mauve or black cascades on the side.

For summer dress wear it is predicted that the leghorn with the upper brim covered with black taffeta will be popular. Recently I saw a French import with the crown left in the natural leghorn, the top brim faced in black taffeta and a row of pink roses bordering one side of the under brim. A delft blue bow of satin was placed on the opposite under brim.

DELEGATES TO THE MEXICAN MEETING ARE TAKING A REST

Mexico City, Mexico, May 16.—The
"recognition conference" was called today while the Mexican Commissioners invited the American delegates or
a little jaunt to the pyramids outside the city.

Getting acquainted and a day of
rest from secret debates that are believed to have waxed warm at times
was the purpose of the adjournment.
The next formal session of the conference, from which Mexico hopes to obtain recognition by the United States government will be tomorrow at 10 o'clock a. m.

Soft Coal Industry Suffers Equally With General Public From Drawbacks, Declare Leaders

JOHN C. BRYDON

John J. Brydon, of Somerset, Pa., chairman of the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee, and Alfred M. Ogle, of Terre Haute, Ind., president of the National Coal Association, are two leaders in the coal industry to present even a partially edited front in the solution of its problems.

"The operators suffer equally with the public from certain fundamental evils affecting the coal industry, and share the public's desire to solve them," Mr. Brydon recently said.

"On the one hand we have had 5000 independent bituminous operators, with no semblance of organization. If the laws of supply and demand were given free play the 'cut-throat competition,' which is the only serious charge against us, would have only us. The public would be made, and, as a matter of fact, the efficient operator would also be made."

"Over against our disorganization, however, the industry contains the starting paradox of the complete labor monopoly in the world. The United Mine Workers of America, highly organized and possessed of a $15,000,000 annual war chest, through the 'check-off' system, compelling the operator to collect a tax on labor and turn the proceeds into union coffers, has secured a monopoly hold on coal production. Before the emergency gave labor the right to effect the present monopoly on the coal field, there was already a monopoly supply of the product at exorbitant prices."

Counsel for the committee, which Mr. Brydon is chairman, has filed formal charges with the United States Coal Commission, and public hearings at which the union violence on the part of the union in support of its labor monopoly, further to be made, all labor relations, no matter how satisfactory, other than those secured by the United Mine Workers of America, and the use of secret, surreptitious funds for warfare on the industry and the public. The commission has been asked to "check-off" or regulate the "check-off."

GEORGE J. GOULD DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS FRENCH VILLA

Menton, France, May 16.—George J. Gould died suddenly at his villa here at 3:30 a. m. today. The American capitalist had been suffering from pneumonia.

With him at the end was his wife, formerly Alice Sinclair, the actress, whom he married secretly last July.

Although 59 years old, Gould made a brave fight against his illness, passing the crisis six weeks ago at which time it was hoped he might recover. His death came with unexpected suddenness just before dawn.

George J. Gould was one of the six heirs of Jay Gould, who left a one hundred million dollar estate at the beginning of the twentieth century, when such a fortune was unprecedented. As the eldest son, he had a principal part in settling the estate from which arose a constant wrangling among the children. At times his brothers brought a succession of suits, disaffected with their incomes, which between 1901 and 1907 averaged $700,000 each annually.

Just because it is now known that painful, sore, aching, swollen feet are caused by the many joints in the foot and Joint-Ease soaks right in and gets to the heart of the trouble—the cartilage and ligaments of the joints.

And to think that for generations we have been powdering and soaking our feet, thinking the trouble was only skin deep—an old fashioned idea.

Well, better late than never—just stop the powdering and medical bathing and other foolishness for three days and just rub on Joint-Ease—and remember when staphylococci Joint-Ease goes in foot agony goes out—quick—60 cents a tube.

For Graduation and After

The most popular style to graduate in this season is the dress that is just one bounce after another. It is the easiest dress in the world to look young in. This one leads the tiered ruffle styles and yet gives the new flat front and back effect. The tiers of bounces are broken in the back by a button.

Trust Co., clerical force, is enjoying her vacation with friends at Tyrone.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Clair Young at their home on River street, on Tuesday evening a 7 lb baby girl which has been named Ellen.

Rev. A. N. Salvie leaves this evening for Chicago where he will attend the annual grand council of the Christian and Missionary Alliance which is in session there from May 17th to 23rd.

Aughinbaugh's DRUG STORE

WILL INVESTIGATE MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF FIVE POISONED

Newark, N. J., May 14.—The graves of Walter J. Creighton and his wife were opened today in the investigation of the Newark arsenic mystery.

The bodies, which have been buried two and three years respectively, will be examined by toxicologists in an effort to determine whether death was caused by poison.

Mrs. Mary S. Creighton, who is in jail charged with murdering her brother, Charles M. Avery, aged 16, by slow administration of arsenic, is suspected of having caused the death of these others. They are the parents of her husband. The husband is held in a murder charge in a cell near his wife. They both protested against exhumation of the bodies.

Newark, N. J., May 16.—The mysterious and sudden death of five relatives of Charles Raymond Avery, who died of arsenic poisoning, and four whose mother, Mrs. John Creighton, Jr., and her husband are held, will be investigated by New Jersey authorities. Evidence obtained from an autopsy on the bodies of the accused woman's parents-in-law warrants.

The new entry, whose attention was called by a mysterious letter to the alleged poisoning of the Avery youth, has received additional information leading to show that the members of Mrs. Creighton's family might have been given arsenic. There were a landowner and two men with whom she lived. Two pet dogs also suffered violent deaths unexplained.

Mrs. W. D. Forney is visiting her father Wm. Livingston on 4th street.

Miss Mary Evans is spending the week at Luders, Pa.

Champion's Record In War Time Smells Too
National Commander.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 15.—The National organization of the American Legion today refused a part in the promotion of the Dempsey-Gibbons bout at Shelby, Montana, July 4th.

John Ousley, National Commander of the Legion, in a statement,
calling up Dempsey's war record
from the past, declared the Legion
was not to be influenced to give its
support by the promise that a hospital for disabled men would be built
from a part of the proceeds.

HOPE FOR EARLY RELEASE GIVEN UP AS BANDITS MOVE

Shipping, May 15.—Hope for the
early release of the Americans and
other foreigners held prisoners by Chinese bandits disappeared today on receipt of information from Lin Cheng that the prisoners had been moved to a new camp twenty-five miles further from the railroad.

Apparently their release is no
more or today than it was on May 6th,
the day of their capture. Their relief is deeper into the mountains
where it is extremely difficult to send them supplies of food and medicine
which are needed.

"The situation of the Powers discuss a responsibility, declaring that
the situation to the Chinese Government is not the cause of the band-
its' defiant attitude and that if pressure was slackened the Government would cease its effort to obtain release of the captives.

Newburg, N. Y., May 15.—Warning
that very serious consequences may
to uphold prohibition is sounded by President Harding in a letter to Doctor Wesley Wait of this city, made
public here today.

Conflict between state and federal
government being forced to enter the
state's territory to make the law effective, the President said. "A disastrous result that would enanceably suggest this."

The letter was written in response
he called the President's attention to
the New York legislative action in repealing state prohibition law and urged
Mr. Harding to have federal officials ready to take swift action if Governor
Smith signs the repealer.

Believest Embassy To England Certain; War Is To Be Outcome

London, May 15.—The prediction
that rupture of the existing trade
agreement between England and Russia would probably result in war with
in a year was made by Leonid Kras-
sin, Bolshevik Embassy here today.

The trade agreement is now threatened in the sharp exchange of notes
between the British and Soviet Governments. In the first note, which brought on the present strained relationship between London and Moscow
Lord Curzon declared that the agreement would be canceled until the Soviet ceases anti-British propaganda in the East.

agreement would probably result in war within a year," Krasin declared. "With the cancellation of the agreement the entente would revert
to the old tactics of stirring up border states, such as Poland and Rumania to interfere with Russian af-
to."

Phoenix, Arizona, May 15.—Andrew Hepler, charged with embezzling $200,000 in Butler and vicinity,
was held in the county jail today in
his arraignment yesterday by United States commissioner.

A woman, who stated she was Nina Hepler, was also held in jail in lieu of $20,000 bail.

The pair was charged with misuse
of the mails and fraudulent repre-
Squab Company" of Butler, Pa. While
slave charges, originally filed against Hepler were dismissed by the com-
to break into the safety deposit
box, where authorities believe the
The woman gave the key of the box
to their attorney, Benton Dick.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 15.—The
entire population turned out today
and aided officials in clearing the
ruins caused by the disastrous fire
and flood which swept Hot Springs
Monday night.

The mountain of debris scattered
about the main streets and piled high
about the doorways was being removed by volunteers who worked throu-
out the night restoring this famous summer resort.

The city was still without electric lights but it was hoped to restore
service today. Estimates made by the city engineering department
placed the total loss at approximately
covered by flood insurance.

A company of the National Guards
patrolled the district today to protect
ported after a thorough check-up had
children were resuscitated from
drowning after they had been rescued
from an automobile which was caught in the torrents.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—Matthew S. Griffin, former Chief of the United States Secret Service for this
district and six others, who were recently convicted in the six million dollar "water for whiskey" substitu-
Federal Judge McKeehan today.

old L. Smith, a former Michigan attorney, who was the Government's star
witness, and Joe Kohnman, truck
driver, will be sentenced May 24th.

The conspiracy involved one of the
most startling liquor frauds in the history of the State. Smith secured
a permit to export alcohol and whiskey to Gruppe. As a starter one hundred barrels of whiskey were
withdrawn from bond and the liquor
was replaced with water.

New York, May 15 (United Press)
—Thomas Joseph Gibbons, respected
citizen, responsible business man of
St. Paul and a family man of the
Dempsey in Shelby, Montana on July 4, for the world's heavyweight
championship.

To know a man of the character of Tom Gibbons, to have first hand
knowledge of his private life and to associate him with the prize ring is
a problem in psychology, where the answer lies only in the man.

as a man makes it," Tommy once
said, when asked why he had chosen
to follow the ring as his career.

in the record books, but the real
story of Gibbons is familiar to only
a few who have been fortunate
enough to know him intimately and
win his confidence.

There was a "Gentleman Jim"
Corbett, who left a desk in a bank to
become a heavyweight champion;
there were Jim Jeffries and Kid Mc-Coy, sons of clergymen, who won
titles in the ring and there was a Carpenter who rose to the pedestal
of a national hero, but none of them
possessed the all-around qualifications of refinement that are persis-ent in Tommy Gibbons.

Always a clean liver from the
time he was removed from the discipline of a strict Irish parent, Gibbons has never been a victim of any
smoked or drank and his idea of a wild party after he has won a contest is to take of several quarts
of ice cream.

A Man of Family
Gibbons places his religious and
family obligations above everything
else and when he is not in the ring
or taking a trip on ring business he
can be found around his home in St.
Paul with his three sturdy youngsters, Thomas Joseph (Little Junior)
aged five; John Anthony (Jack) age
3, and Richard Gregory (Dick) age
eight months.

Last winter Gibbons spent a few weeks in New York and at that time
he was being mentioned as one of the opponents for Dempsey this summer.
Everyone wanted to talk about it,
but Tom. When the conversation
drifted around to ring subjects, Tom
would get into another channel and
tell with the greatest interest how Little Tommy, just a few days before Christmas, had found a pair of
snow shoes back of the piano where Santa Claus had carelessly exposed
them to view.

When the talk would be worked
prefer to talk about "Duke," one of
his hunting dogs, which he claimed
north.

A Great Hunter
Gibbons is a great hunter and outdoor man and he likes to discuss his
theories about the training of dogs
and argue about the best breed, their
various peculiarities and capabilities.
He is essentially an outdoor man and

Clearfield is bound to have a little
baseball this season. That is if the fans generally will support the efforts of the American Legion to provide some recreation along this line
during the season.

At an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting Monday night the Le-
arranged to start opening practise at
the park Wednesday. Anybody able
to play baseball is eligible to make a
bid for the team by going over to the park and reporting to Manager Pierce this evening at 5:30 for the initial practise.

The local team has a bunch of fine
players to build around as the following experienced ball tossers have
agreed to come out for the team:

Manager Pierce, first base, formerly with Oil City; Mahaffey, 2d
base, (Gettysburg); Robinson, Short
cher, (New Orleans).

The opening game of the season
will be played on Thursday, June 7th
with DuBois, Philipsburg, Brookville, Punkstutawney, New Bethlehem and
other towns in this region.

interested in baseball, including those who expect to try for the team, at the American Legion rooms in the County National Bank building Friday
evening next at 8 o'clock.

ame way. Little Tom and Jack are cracks on snow shoes and skis and
of his winter jaunts through the woods.

It has often been pointed out to Gibbons that he had not advanced as rapidly in his profession as his talents merited, because he did not
show himself enough around New York and the big boxing centers.

"I'm happy where I am. I couldn't be happy in New York. The
wife and the kiddies could never
stand being cramped in New York
and my place is with them all the
time, even when it does exact some big sacrifices," he would say in answer.

MUSIC WEEK REACHES CLIMAX TOMORROW EVENING WITH BAND CONCERT, SINGING, PLAYLET AND CONCERT; ALL IS FREE

This is Music Week and the average fellow who has not been in close touch with the schools and musical
organizations of town may not think that the event is being taken very
seriously but such is not the case.
Practically every day there has been
a musical event of some kind and for
the past two or three weeks there
has been the hardest kind of training given for the big time at the High School tomorrow evening when
he activities of the week will have reached a climax.

Every man, woman and child of
the city, yes, and outside too, is invited to join in the good time provided for tomorrow evening. Beginning promptly at 7:15 o'clock the Legion band will take up its place in the park at the rear of the High School. Rev. Hatch, one of the committee, will distribute little booklets
containing the words of popular
songs and there will be a Community Sing that promises to be quite interesting and enjoyable. The whole crowd will join in singing such well
Folks at Home", "Old Black Joe".

James Sincovich, of Osceola, who
took a chance by dealing in contraband liquor, made a sad mistake in
a customer on Saturday last when he made sale of a little moonshine to an
Constable Lee Sunderlin making information against Sincovich violation of the liquor law.

When Sincovich learned that the
officer was about to have him arrested, he is alleged to have offered him $10 to withhold such action. Constable Sunderlin accepted the money
and then promptly made information
against the liquor peddler for bribery and Sincovich is now being held
in $2000 bail to answer the double
charge at next term of court.

The entertainment given by the
pupils of Grades 1 to 6 of the Market street school at the Clearfield
High School auditorium last evening
was greeted by a packed house and
each and every little one in the cast
did very nicely. Bobby Silverman
is the Easter Bunny was very funny
and so well did he appear and act
his part that from all over the house
came cries from the kiddies, "Oh,
look at the real bunny."

The six "little shows" who came out with their grinning caps to receive the daisies and butter cups
also got lots of applause.

Another pleasing feature was the
excellent music of the Junior High School orchestra, which certainly
entitles that organization to the most extravagant praise.

The pageant of "The Shut-Up Posy" was a real spring idyl, the
beautiful costumes, designed by Dennison and made by the teachers
of Dennison crepe paper adding the
necessary dash and color to typify
the element or flower sought to be represented by the different characters.

It was a finished performance
throughout and reflects great credit
upon the little participants, as well as the Market street teachers who
labored so energetically and indus-triously in training the children for their several parts.

Valuable assistance was rendered by Miss Leighton, who taught the
dances and Mrs. J. M. Gallaher, whose splendid accompaniment on
the piano added greatly to the success of the pageant.

An admission fee of 25 cents was charged largely as a means of curtailing the audience to the capacity
of the auditorium and a splendid
financial return was also realized.

"My Old Kentucky Home", "Perfect Day" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Immediately following the singing the audience is invited to enter the auditorium of the High School where the children of the Third Ward School are going to put on a one act playlet entitled "Mother Goose's Garden." This playlet will be given in costume and is one of the prettiest things ever produced in Clearfield.

Following the children's part, the Clearfield Musical Club will take over the program and give the following numbers:

Trio
Violin, S. Keith Davis.
Cello, Mrs. Margaret James Rhine.
Piano, Mrs. Della Anderson Gallaher.
Whistling Solo:
Mr. Alex Black
Solo Mrs. Russell Williams.
Duets

Wickham Absolved From All Blame In Mandallo Case

County Coroner Dr. J. I. Pollun came over from DuBois yesterday and impelling a jury held an official inquiry into the automobile accident on Daisy street at noon on Monday which resulted in the death of little three year old Henry Mandallo.

After viewing the body, the scene of the accident and hearing the testimony of the witnesses to the sad happening, returned a verdict fully exonerating R. J. Wickham, of Buffalo, the driver of the car which ran over the child.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury followed:
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania County of Clearfield ss: Inquisition taken at the Borough of Clearfield, in the said County of Clearfield, the 15th day of May 1923, before J. I. Pollun, Coroner of the County aforesaid, and upon the solemn oaths of C. S. Voinehet, Reuben Straw, W. T. Hagerty, Scott Brown, Taylor Rowles and Wayne Peoples, six good and lawful men of the County aforesaid, charged to inquire when, where and by what means Henry Mandallo came to his death; who, having viewed the body of the said Henry Mandallo and having heard the evidence produced before them, do find and say that he died on May 14th, 1923, at about 5:20 or 5:30 p. m. at the Clearfield Hospital, in the Borough of Clearfield, Clearfield County, Penna., from injuries sustained by being struck by an automobile driven by one R. J.
Wickham of Buffalo, N. Y., on Daisy street at about No. 1215, and we, the said jurors, after hearing the testimony believe that this was an unavoidable accident and therefore do not place any criminal negligence upon Mr. R. J. Wickham and exonerate him from any blame.

In witness whereof, as well as said Coroner as the said jurors have to this inquisition set their hand seals the day and year first above written.

DISINHERITED HEIRESS OVERRULED BY COURT

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 15.—The will of the late William Penn Snyder a steel magnate, disposing of a fort-million dollar estate, was upheld by Judge Trimble in Orphans' Court in dismissing exceptions filed by Mary Snyder Drew a daughter, who claimed she was virtually disinherited.

Judge Trimble decided the evidence introduced at hearings here several months ago proved that Snyder was of sound mind and of testamentary capacity when he made the will.

Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Brown left at noon for a visit in Philadelphia and
Atlantic City. While in Philadelphia
Dr. Brown will attend the State Dental meeting. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Dr. R. W. Livingston is attending
the Penn State Dental Society this week at Philadelphia.

East End Man Is Being
Manslaughter, Result

LUCAS, DRIVER OF
The case of Com. vs. Wendell Lucas, the East End young man, who is charged with involuntary manslaughter as a result of the fatal automobile accident in which he figured down on Daisy street Saturday, April 7th, is on trial in Criminal Court.

Shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon of that day Lucas driving a Jewett roadster and accompanied by a young man named Piegall was driving up Daisy street and when near
the corner of Sixth and Daisy
streets Tony Loffredi, aged about 7
years, in attempting to cross the
the car passing over him and killing
the child almost instantly.

The testimony adduced at the Coroner's inquest held following the
accident was to the effect that the car was traveling no less than 25 or 30 miles per hour and the verdict recommended by the jury recommended that Lucas be held to answer for his carelessness.

Following the return of the verdict
District Attorney Arnold had an information made against Lucas charging him with involuntary manslaughter.
The Grand Jury returned a true
bill last week and the case was set for trial after the 15th of May.
The securing of a jury took up the
entire afternoon, the verdict was being accepted just before 3 o'clock.

from yesterday.)

Miss Pearl Moore representing a committee of the Woman's Club,
asked that permission be given the
Club to hold a June festival at the Court House corner on the evening
of June 15th asking permission to include closing one-half block on Market and Second streets to traffic, during that evening, it being the intention to get up booths on the street
and have dancing on the sidewalk in front of the Court House. Council recommended that the Burgess grant
a license for such festival.

Chairman Beahan of the Highway
Committee recommended that Council contribute $50 toward the dispute through the properties of M. L.
Bowers and H. D. Hooley on Turnpike avenue for the purpose of taking care of the surface water coming down through these lots from
the West Fifth Avenue section, the
property owners obligating themselves to forever after maintain the sewer. The recommendation was adopted thus settling a question
that has been before Council an-

Want River Bank Cleaned Up
Chairman of the Clean-Up Committee, said there had been a pretty general response to the clean-up notices
except in the cases of a lot of people who had piled ashes in the alleys in violation of the Ordinance. Council was of the opinion that each and every offender should be haled before
the Burgess and fined. The High-

World production of pig iron made its highest total of 78 million tons in 1912. Our own high record was 30 million tons in 1912. Our share of world production advanced from 39% in 1900 to 43% in 1922.

The announcement that the production of pig iron in the United States in March and April was the largest on record leads interest to some figures compiled for the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York on world production of iron and the share thereof supplied by the United States.

World production of pig iron, it appears from the Trade Record's statement, made its highest total in 1912, the year immediately preceding the war, when it stood at 78 million tons against 40 million in 1900, 27 million in 1905, 30 million in 1910, 32 million in 1915, and 5 million in 1920.

With the rearrangement of world production following the production of the war, the production of the world has been estimated at 78 million tons in 1922, and 80 million in 1923.

Our share of the world's known iron ore is also larger than that of any other single country, having been recently estimated at about 12 billion tons out of an estimated world "known" total of approximately 90 billion tons. These world estimates, however, are based on the best available knowledge and subject to radical changes as the studies progress, according to a very high authority "the additions to our known supply of iron are likely to be much greater than those of coal, since great iron ore beds may exist anywhere, while those of coal are chiefly of carboniferous formation and a large share of the world's coal supply is known and measured, while the iron ore supply is hardly to be guessed."

One advantage of the United States in the matter of pig iron production lies in the fact that its rich ore beds at the north of the Great Lakes are mined by the use of machinery and this ore transferred across the lakes at low cost by great steamers especially constructed for that service, passing direct to the great coal areas south of the lakes, and as our known iron supply exceeds that of any other country and our cost of supply about one-half that of the world it would appear that we may continue indefinitely our present high rank in world pig iron production and the world's reliance for iron and steel manufactures.

Picture-Transmitting Set.

An apparatus for transmitting pictures electrically is among the latest scientific toys. It is described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The sending and receiving instruments are synchronized by a steel rod, although another system may be used for longer-range work. A photograph must first be reproduced on a copper plate, which is rolled over the cylindrical pattern of the sending machine. A needle held against it travels from one end of the roll to the other, and the picture is reproduced on paper at the other end of the line.

Dead Economy.

New songs about the most extravagant thing there is. If you possibly can, buy a dozen bars at a time. Cut it up, at once into one and one-half inch blocks. Store these in a very dry, rather warm cupboard, pinning them up after the fashion of a child building blocks, i. e., so that they practically do not touch each other. They will then dry and harden right through, and while the cleansing power of the soap will be in no way diminished it will last twice as long.

Most Primitive Still.

Probably the most primitive still in use is that used by the Chinese in the distillation of camphor, which is said, however, to be very effective. The leaves are placed in a wicker basket, which is fixed over an iron caldron containing water. On the top of the basket a basin of cold water is placed. The steam from the caldron passes through the leaves of the basket and carries over the camphor vapor, which is deposited in the form of camphor on the cool under surface of the basin.

SENATE MAKES UP NEW CALENDAR TO PUT IN THE TIME

Harrisburg, Pa., May 16.—The Senate today advanced the general program of the session by getting the Administration code and the general appropriation bill ahead on its calendar, but the refusal of the House to sanction additional revenue still continued to be the burning question of the day.

Various conferences were held today, more for the sake of studying than in the hope of arriving at any solution. The temper of the House was so overwhelmingly against the new tax bills when the tax program came up for vote that plans to get reconsideration of any of the bills were advanced half heartedly.

Harrisburg, May 16.—The House appropriation committee today reported out affirmatively 44 bills with an aggregate appropriation of $473,300 for charitable homes throughout the state.

The committee practically gave these institutions what they received two years ago from the Legislature, and each bill has a rider providing that the appropriation "be paid according to law," so that the money may be paid according to any plan the Legislature may designate.

Alleviate Earache.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Some time ago we published in this column what the Democratic Pittsburgh Post thought about the re-appointment of Dr. Thos. E. Finegan. Here is further evidence along that line from the Republican Philadelphia Inquirer of Tuesday, May 15th:—

Governor Pinchot owes it to himself, to the public schools of Pennsylvania and to the great army of parents who look to the schools for training of their offspring in the elements of good citizenship to put an end to the uncertainty which has for the last five months been allowed to surround the educational policy of the state. That policy, and the remarkable progress which has been attained in putting the schools of this State more nearly in line with national progress in the educational field, have been inextricably associated in the public mind with the work and personality of Thomas E. Finegan, since 1919 the Superintendent of Public Instruction. It has been principally through the inspiration and the wise guidance of Dr. Finegan that the schools have been lifted to a higher level of efficiency, the standard of qualification of the teaching force elevated, the rural schools modernized and improved and a new spirit of service infused throughout the system. During the campaign last fall Mr. Pinchot pledged himself to maintain the high standard in education which had been attained, but for reasons best known to himself studiously refrained from committing himself as to the manner in which that result was going to be attained. He wanted to see for himself, from the vantage ground of the governorship, the inner workings of the educational department. He has had ample time for this, and the time is near when, because of the expiration of the term of office of the superintendent, a decision must be made. Within the last half year there has been an unprecedented manifestation of public opinion in support of the educational policy of the state, and especially for the retention of Dr. Finegan in his position as the most certain way of holding the ground which has been gained and of winning further improvement. The only opposition has been that based on ignorance of the value, and, in some instances, upon deliberate misrepresentation. The school teachers of the state, through their official organizations, and skilled educational experts from other states, brought here to make an independent inquiry into the school conditions, have been unanimous in their judgment that it would be a calamity if the state were to lose the services of Dr. Finegan. Even Governor Pinchot's own committee of citizens, whom he called to his aid in making a study of the state's finances was unanimous in its approval of the school policies as formulated and carried out by the present Superintendent of Public Instruction, and disposed conclusively of the purveyors of falsehood who had used the Grange organization for the dissemination of anti-Finegan propaganda. For these reasons, and other obvious ones which might be offered, the Governor should at once set at rest all doubt and relieve the anxieties of all true friends of educational progress by announcing the reappointment of Dr. Finegan as Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Dry rot is a wood disease that is giving farmers trouble in some localities and engineers are prescribing preventive curative remedies. It is especially urged that every trace of the infection be removed from timber for buildings. The infected spots are to be oiled to retain the spores and are then to be completely removed and buried. The diseased wood is to be kept from contact with other building material while saws used in cutting it are to be afterward sterilized.

Owl Stopped Wheels of Industry. The curious combination of an owl and a steel trap in which the bird had become caught and flown away, trap and all, blighting on a high-powered electric cable carrying 11,000 volts of electricity to run a mill at Goodyear, Conn., stopped the power and threw several hundred men out of work for several hours. Linemen, after several hours' search, located the owl, burned to a cinder.

Renovate Brushes.

When sweeper brush bristles become soft from long use and do not sweep up dirt as well as when stiff, put a little common baking soda in some hot water; take the brush out of the sweeper and dip it up and down in this. Let it dry in the sun and it will be like new. Hair brushes or any brush can be treated in the same way with the best of results.

Signifies Honorary Promotion.

Brevet is a French word, meaning commission or warrant. In military usage it gives an officer higher nominal rank than the one for which he receives pay. It is an honorary promotion. The first time it was used in the United States army was in 1812 when Capt. Zachary Taylor, who afterward became president, was made major by brevet for his brave defense of Fort Harrison against the Indians, near Terre Haute.

Distribution of Population.

There would be about nine people to the square mile if the entire population of the world were distributed equally over the earth's total surface area of about 57,285,000 square miles.

SINCLAIR ARRESTED IN TEST CASE OF RIGHTS OF SPEECH

Los Angeles, Cal., May 14.—Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" stood on Liberty Hill last night and read to a little group of three friends a few words from the preamble of the Constitution of the United States. His auditors were his brother-in-law, Hunter Krimbrough, Prince Hopkins and H. R. Haldeman.

The four were arrested immediately brought here and lodged in the county jail without bail for the night and today are to be charged with criminal syndicalism and unlawful assembly.

Rome is supposed to have entered upon glass making only some 300 or 400 years before the Christian era. She brought it into the empire along with her other conquests. Alexander Severus, 220 B. There are indications that there is likely to be an early return to the days when the newspaper editors and publishers of the interior counties of the state were more important factors in directing public affairs and determining the policies of their respective parties than they have been in recent years. The increasing spirit of independence manifested by many of them and their closer affiliation with movements of representative citizens to improve governmental conditions, both in the counties and in the state at large, are significant and forecast a new order of things. The fact that in both the Republican and Democratic state organizations there is no longer a dominating leadership or even groups of leaders to whom the active men in their respective parties can look for inspiration or guidance, makes the situation such as should bring to the front aggressive and public-spirited newspapermen to blaze the way for better things in both local and state government. Veteran Republicans recall the influence wielded years ago in the management of their organization and in framing its platform declarations of party policy by men like Thomas V. Cooper, editor of the Delaware County American and for years chairman of the Republican state committee, and who in that capacity always brought into party councils the leading Republican newspapermen of every district in the state.—Altoona Tribune.

This evening, if you happen to be about the central part of town about eight o'clock or later, take a look at those beautiful lamp posts in front of the Clearfield Trust Company.

Do not think that this is a city idea. It is common sense and good business. Lock Haven has them and would not think of doing away with them. Indiana has them and would not think of discarding them than they would their water supply.

Unless there is concerted action along this line in the near future this town is going to lose a chance to "look right." The Trust Company is to be commended for erecting these lights. They are in harmony with the building and are beautiful. But here is what is going to happen. A salesman will happen along here some day and sell somebody else a pair of posts of a different design; then another will come along, and another, and finally we are going to have a dozen different kind of lighting fixtures in place of that uniformity of contour and design which makes for a beautiful city.

That the State of Pennsylvania needs at least twenty millions of dollars to wipe out its obligations and carry on the work of the government for the next two years is an undisputed fact.

Why do they not do it?

The Ways and Means Committee of the House have exhaustively gone into the potential tax producers and, after equally exhaustive research, reported out a recommendation that it be divided as follows: part by a heavier tax on gasoline part by a tax on chewing gum and tobacco and part by a tax on all state taxes now levied, with some exemptions.

The House members, remembering the implications of the gubernatorial campaign that an increased taxation would not be necessary if economy were practiced—though they realize the untruth of such belief—fear to vote for any increase in taxation.

GERMAN CABINET TO MAKE ANOTHER TRY BY A NEW OFFER

Berlin, May 15.—Germany now proposes to make a new offer to the Allies. With supplies from France and Belgium, Italy and Great Britain on hand, all rejecting the German Government's latest offer, the Cabinet has decided to try again.

The next proposal will contain more satisfactory guarantees, but the limit of thirty billion gold marks fixed in the last offer, will not be raised. At least this was the decision thus far, which possibly may be changed by another Cabinet meeting scheduled for this afternoon before the next note is finally agreed upon.

State College, Pa., May 16.—What the industries of Pennsylvania demand as qualifications in a college graduate will be one of the important matters to be brought up at the annual Industrial Conference to be held at the Pennsylvania State College school of engineering next week-end. Invitations have been sent to about 60 industrial executives in engineering, production lines. From these who attend, the college engineering school officials will endeavor to obtain information that will enable them to better train technical students to fit into state industries upon graduation.

Industrial research problems that can be undertaken by the State College engineering experiment station will also be suggested by the manufacturing and transportation leaders who attend the conference. The college station is now working on important, heat transmission problems and testing various kinds of apparatus to facilitate the efficient burning of the lower grades of coal as a conservation measure. At the same time the industrial conference is held the eighth annual convention of the engineering extension workers will take place. It will be attended by many representatives from industrial plants where the college has installed class and home courses for employees.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell celebrated the 40th anniversary of their marriage yesterday evening. Those present, besides their children, were the resident sisters and brothers of the couple and their children. The house was beautifully decorated with immense bouquets of spring blossoms. The photos in bridal costume of the couple were in evidence. The guests were pleasantly entertained with piano and violin duets by Misses Grace and Eugenia Mitchell. The gala occasion was also delightfully added to by Miss Mary Mitchell singing a number of selections in her usual fine style. The serving of elegant refreshments closed a most enjoyable evening.

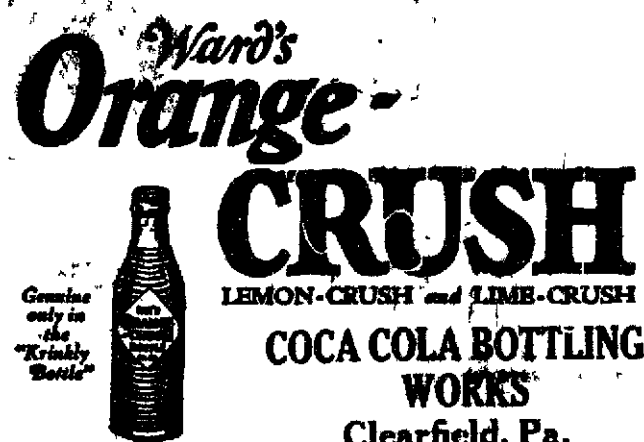

Systematic Effort Wins.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this thoroughly over the hair, using one small strand at a time. In a few days the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance, which is so attractive.

OF RAID ON GRAMPAN
Editor Clearfield Progress:

Dear Sir:—Referring to your story relative to the raid upon the "Grampian Stock Exchange," allow me to inform you that desperados "taken at the point of a gun" were callow youths, who may some time have both hair and whiskers with which to deceive you, but at the present time such to be expected hirsute adornment of their square jaws and manly faces has not even yet made a break through the skin in a single instance.

Following this raid these "bag boys" were taken home and spanked and put to bed. One lad who had a pair of fangs showing with eight or ten in the pot, lost the whole ding-bat when the state copper seized his life steel smoke wagon in the throat of the desperate gamblers and shipped heads up. He says never again for me, so the effort must be a waste worth while.

THE CHARGE OF SHYLOCK JONES

Yo Grampian stood in darkness, the wind was howling wild. Five mothers lay awake that night, each thinking of her child. "Where is my darling Paul," cried one. "Oh God, where can he be?" While busy heating up his milk, the poor boy strayed from me. "Some one has kidnapped Charles, my boy, his face no more I'll see, Oh, Heaven, guard my little child and bring him back to me." As other mothers wept and prayed that dark and stormy night, As Shylock Jones, the Grampian cop prepared himself for fight.

In Grampian's old pavilion grand, each seated on a box, Five agents played "the penny ante," for chips, they used mere rocks. Says Tim, "My Mam says home at nine," or she will use the switch, It's late and dark, come Rube let's go, I'm scared of Grampian's witch. "T'll give your bet and raise one cent," speaks Conway, wired on jacks. "I give," says Murph. "Me too," said George, "I've got 'em backs to backs." "HOLD UP!" The cry came terse and shrill, "I'm Shylock Jones, detective. You frame it up, move and I'll shoot and all I'll make a wreck of."

The state cop came, handcuffs in hand, likewise came two assistants. And Mama's boys, bound hand and foot, were checked of all resistance. Then forth they marched to Adam, who armed law book in hand, Declared that Court was open and note law of the land. Foot Charles stood all squiver, his line he knew was up; He lifted old Adam's groundhog once and blamed it on a pup. The Court House arrested of chicken says as Adam quoth the law. Well of Charles, "Afore I go to jail I want to see my ma." "My brother wears a gas mask once," said Tom. "He fought the Huns: Unless old Adam airs this court I'll an and chance the guns."

"Five dollars fine, and pay the costs, get darn ye come across. Or in the coop you'll go by gum, the law's now the boss." And musing not which coop he meant, the "chicken" or the "jag." The lads were in a panic as their hearts began to tug. "T'll say my fine," each wailed "midst a gas," says Mother's arms I seek. I'll be in it any more, for breath my heart is weak." Aye, years may come and years may pass, and brows begin to harden, but I'll long will tell how mighty the pinch the kindergarten. ANONY. MOUS, Grampian, Penna.

When the Case is Urgent. Arbitration is usually most needed when somebody declares that there is nothing to arbitrate. — Washington Star.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray happens the most expensive suits in the most exclusive hotel in Dallas. He introduces himself to the hotel manager, to the president of the largest bank in the city, to the mayor of Dallas. The leading newspaper gives Gray a write-up in which it is stated that he is backed by three oil interests. A friend who is vice president of the largest jewelry store in Dallas Gray takes a trip to Dallas to sell valuable diamonds to Gus Briskow, the chauffeur and companion. The family tries to make time for at home.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"Is it well producing twelve hundred dollars a day?"

"Huh," Briskow, Junior, grinned at his sister, appraising a mouth full of teeth as white and as sound as railroad crockery, but his hand words were directed at Daddy: "We got four miles and the parcel was in twelve hundred dollars."

"The guests' mental calculations as to the Briskow royalties were interrupted by an announcement that dinner was ready, whereupon the father announced:

"Mister, it looks like you'd have to play harrigan with us, 'cause I got important business after dinner and I wouldn't trust Ma to look out no jewelry by herself—them prices would shake her to death. We're ignorant people and we ain't used to spendin' money, so I'll take time for us to make up our minds. Kin you wait?"

"I'll stay as long as you'll keep me," Gray declared, heartily. A moment later, having learned that a place at the table had been set for his driver as well as himself, Gray stepped out to summon the man and to effect the necessary change in his arrangements. He was not surprised to find the chauffeur with two attendants against a pane of the front-room window, his hands cupped over his eyes, ignoring the fellow's confusion at being discovered. Gray told him of his change of plan and instructed him to drop back to Ranger and to return late the following afternoon. Then he led the way toward the kitchen.

That day at the Briskows' turned out to be less irksome than the visit or had anticipated, for the afternoon was spent with Buddy examining the Briskow wares and others near by.

They got along together swimmingly; in fact, they grew thicker than thieves in the course of time. The elder man soon became conscious of the fact that he was being studied, analyzed, even copied; the discreet form of flattery—and it pleased him vainly.

When Gray offered him a cigar, Buddy rudely took the gold case out of his pocket and examined it, then he handed it to Buddy with a slight smile.

"Gosh, I never knew men had such nice things. I'm gosh to get me one of these."

"Gosh, I'll give you a present of it," Buddy blurted at the speaker in sudden surprise.

"Mister, please give me a present," Buddy said. "Not one thing I want. I never had nothing that I didn't have to have and couldn't get along without. This cigar case is worth more'n all the stuff I ever owned, and I'm sure obliged to you." He replaced the article in Gray's hand. "Shit! Won't you accept it? Why not?"

"Oh, I dunno." Gray pondered this refusal for a moment before saying, "Perhaps you think I'm trying to make a good impression on you, so you'll buy some diamonds?"

"Mister, Buddy averted his eyes. His eyes to real distress. "Gosh, I ought to punch your head," Gray slipped the case into his pocket. "I don't have to bribe people. Some day you'll realize that I like you."

"Honest?" "Cross my heart." The boy laughed in frank delight, his brown cheeks colored, his eyes sparkling. "Gosh," said he, "I like you. For some time thereafter he remained red and in the pocket kept one big hand in the pocket where lay the gold cigar case. There was a wordless song in Buddy Briskow's heart, for he had made a friend. And such a friend! Gray made his conquest doubly secure by engaging the young Behemoth in a scuffle and playfully putting him on his back.

By this time Buddy's admiration had turned to adulation; he had bowed under the yoke and he gloried shamelessly in his captive state. At supper time he appeared with his hair, neatly combed in imitation of Gray's. He wore a necktie, too, and into it he had fastened a cheap brass stickpin, much as Gray wore his.

Pa Briskow was scarcely less obsequious than his son. He watched Gray's every move; he sounded him out adroitly; he pondered his lightest word. After the supper things had been cleared away and the dishes washed, the entire family adjourned to the front room and again examined the jewelry. It was an absorbing task; they did not hurry it. Not until the following afternoon, in fact, did they finally make their selection. The check was one of five figures.

When it drew near the time for Gray to leave, and he announced that the driver of his hired car had been instructed to return for him,

"I'LL STAY AS LONG AS YOU'LL KEEP ME," GRAY DECLARED HEARTILY.

there was protest, loud and earnest, from the Briskows, father and son. Buddy actually sulked at being denied the pleasure of driving his hero to town in the new car.

Pa Briskow was worried for the security of the diamonds, and assured Gray that it was unsafe to trust those carvice-can drivers.

But the latter, meeting a threat to his carefully matured plans, refused to listen. "There's one thing you can do for me," he told them. "You can give me a pint of cream."

"Cream? What for?" The family regarded him with amazement. "I'm fond of it. If you have no cream, milk will do."

"Fahaw! I'll put up a hull basket of lunch for you," Mrs. Briskow declared. "Buddy, go 'kill a rooster, an' you, Allie, get them eggs out of the nest in the garden, an' a jar of them peach preserves, while I make up a pan of biscuits."

Peace was unavailing. When the others had hurried away, Pa Briskow said: "I been studyin' you, Mister Gray, and I got you down as a first-class man. When Ma and Allie come over to Dallas to get rigged out, I'd like you to help 'em. They ain't never been further from home than Cisco—that's thirty miles. I'll pay you for your time."

Gray's hearty acceptance of the first and his prompt refusal of the second proposal pleased the banker.

"Buddy, rich is mighty, son, but it ain't used to thinkin'. Some day, maybe, I'll get you to give me a hand 'd fingerin' out some 'business'."

"No, I got enough of them, an' more comin', but it ain't that. Well, look at it, an' you can see you ought to be a first-class man. I can stand it, but mister, I don't want folks to laugh at my children, and there's other things I don't want to happen to 'em. Buddy's a good boy and he's got a good head, an' I'm in him. And Allie ain't broke these may be trouble ahead, an' sometimes I wish we'd never had no oil in Texas."

A Surprise for Mother

"WELL, did you land them chicks?" It was Gray's driver speaking, through the gloom of early evening he was guiding his car back toward Ranger.

"Yes. And I made a good sale," the passenger declared. With words he announced the size of the Briskow check.

A few miles farther on the fellow confessed: "I wasn't Gray about comin' for you tonight. Not after I got a dash at what's in that wallet."

"Me?" The man at the wheel shot a quick glance at the first. "Um-m! These roads give a message to life and limb; the country is infested with robbers."

"Oh sure! That's what I told in mind. Joy-riding at night with a bagful of diamonds is my idea of a feller's amusemant. Of course, we won't get away."

"Of course! One never does." "Sure! But if we should, there's just one thing to do."

"Indeed?" Gray was pleasantly inquisitive, but it was plain that he suffered no apprehensions. "And that is—"

"Sit tight and take your medicine." "I never take medicine." The chauffeur shrugged his shoulders. "Well, I do, when it's put down my throat. I been stuck up."

"And you won't offer any resistance?" "Not a one, cull."

Gaining New Fame for Service194% Sales Increase in Last Six Months
Shows Trend Toward Firestone

The public has enthusiastically spoken. The popular preference in all territories is unmistakably the Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

A standard of service has been set by these famous tires without parallel in the past. It has brought a sales increase of 194% for the past six months over the same period of a year ago—the greatest gain in all Firestone history.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord is the mighty achievement which has enabled Firestone to break the tremendous record of past Firestone success.

The tire buying public has been aroused to the results in economical mileage of the Firestone process of double gum-dipping. The buying public toward Firestone shows how it has advanced the public's standard of tire value.

Ask owners about Firestone performance on their cars. Note the big, tough fleets Firestone-equipped. Watch the new cars you see—just from the territories; Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are used everywhere in fast increasing numbers.

Get the maximum extra mileage that only the Firestone name assures you. Only by insisting on this name can you be sure of getting the genuine gum-dipped construction.

Eugene Coyne, 12 years old, son of State Representative and Mrs. James J. Coyne, of Pittsburgh, has been missing since Monday night. It became known last night. Police and city and county detectives conducted a city-wide search for the boy yesterday, but no clue was found as to his whereabouts.

The boy left his home about 7:30 o'clock Monday night for a dentist's office in the Forbes building, Forbes and Atwood streets. After receiving treatment, he played in front of the building with some boy companions. He was last seen about 9:30 o'clock by a woman attendant in the dentist's office. The lad was attired in a brown suit, light cap, tan shoes and black stockings when he disappeared. He has light hair, blue eyes and weighs about 100 pounds.

All Dressed Up

Suppose you owned a complete wardrobe of the newest and most fashionable clothes—would you know how, when, and where they should be worn? To such questions you'll always find the answer in

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

In an early issue, for example, there will be a feature entitled "Do You Know What's the Matter With Their Clothes?" The illustrations will show the same women, incorrectly and then correctly dressed.

A style well chosen is good as long as the dress lasts. The Journal aims to picture fashions that will be the mode the following season; for fashions are things of subtle change rather than overnight revision. It's part of Journal fashion news, too, to discuss prices and quality of materials, and their possibilities.

And, besides its fashion and dressmaking features, The Journal contains the best of serial and short stories—in fact, 12 big issues of good things for all the family for only $1.50.

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., May 15. (United Press)—There's a hat born every minute! Just when we thought the
turned-down poke had firmly settled itself upon us, it goes up, in front like the nose of a saucy flapper.

The new type poke still follows
the line of the cloche of the earlier
season, except that its front brim is
slightly wider and turns up abruptly
from the face with a slight point in front. It will be becoming to the women who considers her eyes her
best feature, for the small down-
turned brim tended to accentuate the
lower part of the face, shadowing
the eyes. If one feels that the abruptly upturning brim is unbecoming, there are numerous models with brims which roll slightly upwards.

Another new cloche shape that is
a little out of the ordinary turns
abruptly upwards in back, with a fan shaped cascade of ribbon placed
directly in back and extending over
the sides like a huge comb. This is particularly attractive on the dark haired woman, who has even features. The front brim is narrow and rounding.

The Big Hats
Large mushroom hats which are
wider on one side than the other and
with short back brims are popular for
dress wear. Often the wide side of the brim is pleated, resembling a fan. The opposite brim may be untrimmed with a bow of ribbon.

In spite of the earlier predictions
for flower trims, ribbons and lace
we're receiving more popularity than flowers. Ribbon trims most of the street hats in cocoons, huge bows,

accordion pleats or frayed-edge borders. Here a word might be said about the new border trims which are so softening to the face. Many of the little cloche shapes are indeed
hard to wear unless softened by a border of frayed taffeta or ribbon.
Trims of this sort are so easily made
at home and the plain untrimmed
shapes which one can purchase in the
with little effort.

Cut taffeta in bias strips about an inch and a half wide. A strip three times the circumference of the brim
is all that is required. By pulling the blunt edge of scissors over the bias edge of the taffeta it is easily frayed
out. Then run a shirring thread
through the center of the strip gathering it, and sew it to the edge of the hat brim. This gives a fastidious
smile which is bound to be attractive.
Usually the taffeta used matches exactly the shade of the hat.

Black Hats in Fashion
Black hats are again very much in vogue in Paris and are often trimmed
with clusters of various colored flowers or ribbons. Black felt cloche shapes are especially popular with
the Parisian at present, trimmed either in mauve or black cascades on
the side.

For summer dress wear it is predicted that the leghorn with the upper brim covered with black taffeta will be popular. Recently I saw a French import with the crown left in
the natural leghorn, the top brim
faced in black taffeta and a row of
pink roses bordering one side of the under brim. A delft blue bow of satin was placed on the opposite under brim.

DELEGATES TO THE MEXICAN MEETING ARE TAKING A REST

Mexico City, Mexico, May 16.—The
"recognition conference" was called
today while the Mexican Commission-
a little jaunt to the pyramids outside
the city.

Getting acquainted and a day of
rest from secret debates that are believed to have waxed warm at times
was the purpose of the adjournment.
The next formal session of the conference, from which Mexico hopes to obtain recognition by the United States government will be tomorrow
at 10 o'clock a. m.

Compliment for Kathleen.
Kathleen told some stories to a little dece and nephew. At a family dinner party grandma referred to these ancient nursery tales, but not following her exact lines, when Margaret piped up: "No, no, grandma, that is not the story Kathleen tells the stories, and Kathleen is a good knower."

One Way of Escape.
"A woman marries a man who got up and gave her his seat in a street car." Then the only way for a man to escape is to poke his nose into his newspaper when he hears the rustle of a skirt near his car seat.

E. G. Lachat, N. Y. C. section foreman, while in Clearfield last Wednesday, purchased a Ford touring car from the Clearfield Central Garage Co.

There are still a few fruit blossoms surviving the snow and heavy frosts we had last week, but indications are that good old apple juice will be rather scarce next fall.

Bridge contractor Plink has just his equipment moved from P. Apparently he farmers which are daily suffering ever hardship due to this tardy construction work, will be kept in this dire situation for many more weeks.

Laughter's Great Value.

There's an infectiousness and gaiety about the right kind of laughter, and boy presto! lots of threatening shadows and ever-present troubles are melting away to a respectful distance. We can't not be gloomy or say tatty things, or think cankerous thoughts and laugh as well. Then let us laugh.

Daily Thought.

Were there no laughter nor love, should be honest—John Weems.

How to build up your Weight

Increase your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the sure way! S.S.S. builds Blood-Cells; this means strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1828, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-looker. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical.

Only well-developed, healthy men and women enter the best in life.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

Save Migratory Birds. Roosts with a total seating capacity of 30,000 birds have been erected just below the light of a Netherland light-house to prevent the destruction of bewildered migratory birds lured off their course by the light on foggy nights.

Hearty Eaters of the Past. The people of today are satisfied with much less to eat than were their ancestors. In the hungry days of the "breadth century" it was usual for those who could afford it to consume one good meal a day, and one of which might now be regarded as quite enough for a small family.

Wisdom From Sterne. When my way is too rough for my soul, or too steep for my strength, I sit off it to some smooth, velvet path which safety has scattered over with sedate delights; and, having taken a few turns in it, come back strengthened and refreshed.

Stray Bits of Wisdom. Love is a secondary passion in those who love most, a primary in those who are least.—Lander.

Soft Coal Industry Suffers Equally With General Public From Drawbacks, Declare Leaders

JOHN C. BRYDON

John C. Brydon, of Somerset, Pa., chairman of the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee, and Alfred M. Ogle, of Terre Haute, Ind., president of the National Coal Association, are two leaders in the coal industry to present even a partially united front in the solution of its problems.

"The operators suffer equally with the public from certain fundamental evils affecting the coal industry, and share the public's desire to solve them," Mr. Brydon recently said.

"On the one hand we have had 5000 independent bituminous operators, with no semblance of organization. If the laws of supply and demand were given free play the 'cut-throat competition,' which is the only serious charge against us, would have only us. The public would be made, and, as a matter of fact, the efficient operator would also be made."

"Over against our disorganization, however, the industry contains the starting paradox of the com-

Counsel for the committee, which Mr. Brydon is chairman, has filed formal charges with the United States Coal Commission, and public hearings at which the operators' violence on the part of the union in support of its labor monopoly, further to be made, and all labor relations, as well as satisfactory, other than those secured by the United Mine Workers of America, and the use of secret, secretly obtained funds for warfare on the industry and the public. The commission has been asked to "check-off" or regulate the "check-off."

LUTHERAN CLASSES BANQUET

A happy group of young people surrounded the festive board at Jordan's hotel last evening to enjoy one of Jordy's popular dinners. These young people were members of two classes of St. John's Lutheran Sunday school, the class of young ladies taught by Mrs. J. A. Shull and the class of young men taught by J. H. Scott. George Dietzel acted as toastmaster. The classes had as their guests Superintendent Paul A. Dietzel, and the pastor and wife.

GEORGE J. GOULD DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS FRENCH VILLA

Menton, France, May 16.—George J. Gould died suddenly at his villa here at 3:30 a. m. today. The American capitalist had been suffering from pneumonia.

With him at the end was his wife, formerly Alice Sinclair, the actress, whom he married secretly last July.

Although 59 years old, Gould made a brave fight against his illness, passing the crisis six weeks ago at which time it was hoped he might recover. His death came with unexpected suddenness just before dawn.

George J. Gould was one of the six heirs of Jay Gould, who left a one hundred million dollar estate at the beginning of the twentieth century, when such a fortune was unprecedented. As the eldest son, he had a principal part in settling the estate from which arose a constant wrangling among the children. At times his brothers brought a succession of suits, disaffected with their incomes, which between 1901 and 1907 averaged $700,000 each annually.

Why They're Using Joint-Ease (For) SORE FEET

Just because it is now known that painful, sore, aching, swollen feet are caused by the many joints in the foot and Joint-Ease soaks right in and gets to the heart of the trouble—the cartilage and ligaments of the joints.

Well, better late than never—just stop the powdering and medical bathing and other foolishness for three days and just rub on Joint-Ease—and remember when staphylococci Joint-Ease goes in foot agony goes out—quick—60 cents a tube.

WILL INVESTIGATE MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF FIVE POISONED

Newark, N. J., May 14.—The graves of Walter J. Creighton and his wife were opened today in the investigation of the Newark arsenic mystery.

The bodies, which have been buried two and three years respectively, will be examined by toxicologists in an effort to determine whether death was caused by poison.

Mrs. Mary S. Creighton, who is in jail charged with murdering her brother, Charles M. Avery, aged 16, by slow administration of arsenic, is suspected of having caused the death of these others. They are the parents of her husband. The husband is held in a murder charge in a cell near his wife. They both protested against exhumation of the bodies.

Newark, N. J., May 16.—The mysterious and sudden death of five relatives of Charles Raymond Avery, who died of arsenic poisoning, and four whose mother, Mrs. John Creighton, Jr., and her husband are held, will be investigated by New Jersey authorities. Evidence obtained from an autopsy on the bodies of the accused woman's parents-in-law warrants.

The new evidence, whose attention was called by a series of letters to the alleged poisoning of the Avery youth, has received additional information leading to show that the members of Mrs. Creighton's family might have been given arsenic. There were a landowner and two men with whom she lived. Two pet dogs also suffered violent deaths unexplained.

Mrs. W. D. Percy is visiting her father Wm. Livingston on 4th street.

Miss Mary Brown is spending the week at Luders, Pa.
